Description: D914 Hurricanes o

The 2012 hurricane season has produced a relentless march of storms that have pummeled coastal communities in the United States - Tropical Storm Debby in Florida and Hurricane Isaac in the Gulf Coast. As the season headed into its final month, Superstorm Sandy hit the East Coast with high winds and heavy rains, causing immense damage and destruction. Yet throughout this turbulent season, the American Red Cross has been there thanks to the support of donors such as you, offering shelter, food, solace and hope.

Your gift to the 2012 Hurricanes and Other Related Storms helps the Red Cross prepare for and respond to the storms and provide services such as food, shelter and emotional support to those impacted. On those rare occasions when donations exceed American Red Cross expenses for a specific disaster, contributions are used to prepare for and serve victims of other disasters. As Sandy battered the Eastern Seaboard with heavy rain, high winds and severe storm surges, the Red Cross sheltered and fed evacuees. We distributed comfort kits as well as cleanup supplies. As the region moves toward recovery, we remain with those affected, offering emotional support and linking those in need to critical community resources.

We are grateful for your support of the American Red Cross. To learn more about your gift at work, please visit redcross.org or call (765) 742-6975.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) recognizes the American Red Cross as a 501(c)(3) organization; therefore your contribution is tax deductible to the extent allowed by law. This letter of receipt should be kept with your tax records since the IRS may request it. The American Red Cross provided no goods or services to you in conjunction with your contribution.
